

Esker Receives 2014 Cloud Computing Product of the Year Award

Esker's Cloud Platform, Esker on Demand, Honoured for Innovation

Sydney, Australia — January 6, 2015 — Esker, a worldwide leader in document process automation solutions and pioneer in cloud computing, announced today that TMC, a global, integrated media company, has named Esker on Demand as a 2014 Cloud Computing Product of the Year Award winner.

The Cloud Computing Product of the Year Award, presented by Cloud Computing magazine, honours solution providers with the most innovative, useful, and beneficial cloud solutions and services that have been brought to market during 2014.

“When it comes to document process automation, cloud technology offers key competitive advantages in terms of IT simplification, scalability and ROI, and accomplishing more with less,” said Steve Smith, U.S. Chief Operating Officer at Esker Americas. “Receiving the Cloud Computing Product of the Year Award from TMC is a great honour, and a testament to the success of Esker on Demand in helping organisations of any size easily achieve these benefits.”

Esker on Demand is a cloud-based document process and information exchange service that enables companies to automate the processing and exchange of critical business documents, such as customer invoices, supplier invoices, customer orders, etc. Ten years after its launch, Esker on Demand's global network of production facilities now serves over 5,000 customers worldwide, recently achieving the impressive milestone of over one billion pages processed.

“Recognising leaders in the advancement of cloud computing, TMC is proud to announce Esker on Demand as a recipient of the Cloud Computing Product of the Year Award,” said Rich Tehrani, CEO at TMC. “Esker is being honoured for its achievement in bringing innovation and excellence to the market, while leveraging the latest technology trends.”
